PUBLICANS .V. LANDLORDS!

When insurers decide how much to charge a driver for their premium, they look at certain factors to decide the level of risk. This includes the applicant's age, where they live and their occupation. But small changes in how the applicant describes their job can make a real difference in how much that person ends up paying.

However, two job descriptions can seem to be almost identical, but still have different premiums.

Price comparison website Confused.com has worked out costs for publicans and landlords on licensed premises. The website checked the difference assuming that both quotes were for a 33-year-old woman, driving a BMW, with 15 years of driving experience and 10 years of no claims bonus.

The average annual car insurance quote for a publican was £331.52, but for a landlord it was £314.64.

Those looking to renew their car insurance should put some thought into what they write in the job title box, and check they are fully covered, experts say.

The Financial Ombudsman Service says it sees cases from consumers who are upset when they find their claim is not going to be paid because of the way they described their job.

MAKE YOUR MACHINES PAY!

Positioning Your Machines

- Give AWPS pride of place over cash machines.
- Ensure machines are highly visible to all customers.
- Good positions for machines are: en-route to the toilets, to your outdoor smoking area or opposite the entrance doorway.
- Provide a shelf or table for drinks on.
- Leave plenty of space between quiz machines, so that 'teams' can play.

Respect Your Machines

- Please don't allow people to bang, kick or abuse the machines.
- Keep machines clean and free of 'beer-sticky!'
- Polish the glass and don't forget to clean the payout shelf people collect their winnings.
- Request a regular Re-Mark of your pool table.
- Brush it weekly.

CIGARETTE MACHINE BAN

Vending machines: set for axe on 1 October 2011

Machine provider Sinclair Collis, part of Imperial Tobacco, had attempted to block the proposed ban by way of a judicial review but its challenge failed.

The Judge stated that a ban on the sale of tobacco from automatic vending machines was appropriate to protect public health and did not go beyond what was necessary to achieve that end.

Imperial Tobacco had hoped to prove that measures such as electronic ID and remote controls have stopped underage sales from machines in other countries.

In England and Wales, cigarette vending machines will now be banned from 1 October 2011. Source:11/02/2011

AFFAIRS IN ORDER?

Paperwork Reminder!

April 5th Year end has now passed, so its time to send all your income details off to your accountant so that they can complete your tax returns for the 2010/2011 year.

Protecting You & Your Estate.

There are many areas we need to consider when looking to protect our family and our homes. Inheritance and Capital Gains Tax, illness and loss of income to name but a few. These are subjects which few people greet with enthusiasm and many, not surprisingly, would rather delay consideration of these matters. To give an example, so few people do anything about their potential Inheritance Tax liability that the HM Revenue and Customs collected £2.2 billion in 2009/10 alone.* Assessing suitable protection lies at the heart of what they do at St. James's Place Wealth Management

INCREASE INCOME

Increase Income by 20%?

You may like to consider a second 'extra' fruit machine.

A 10p play/ £5 jackpot on a 50:50 revenue share basis, It needs no AMLD licence.

We have discovered this year, that far from detracting from the larger jackpot machines, it provides an alternative choice for customers to play, especially when they wish to continue play after a win on the other machine, or they have seen the other machine payout recently...our records show that the 2nd machine actually increases the overall income by 20%!

OPEN THE BOX - A REAL WINNER!

Fix 5 'Petty cash' type boxes to a large board - number them 1 to 5 Throughout your chosen night sell raffle tickets to customers in the bar Behind the scenes, put a large share of the raffle ticket revenue into one of the boxes and say, £5 and £10 into two of the others - leaving 2 empty. At the chosen time of night later on, pull the winning Raffle ticket and request the winner to approach the board of cashboxes. Ask the raffle winner to choose one of the cashboxes ... Here's when the showmanship must come in ! Which box will they choose? The landlord/lady should try to 'persuade' loudly in front of the crowd - for the raffle winner not to choose a box, but take the [lesser] amount of money in the landlord/ladies pocket.....will they gamble? Will they choose the right box? Will they loose? Will they play-safe and take the landlords money?!

This 'show' is a real crowd pleaser and puller - if the raffle winner chooses the wrong box - the funds are all carried over to the next week's Open the Box and the pot increases week on week until a grand winner!

For an excellent example of the "Open The Box Show" - please go to Oceans in Broad Haven any Saturday night and see Mostyn wow the crowds!
